Biography

Visual storytelling has always been my ambition since a young age and I've always been interested in a creative suiting role. I want to be a part of a great promotional, advertising and storytelling force with the ability to collaborate with groups/people who also seek to create and inspire, regardless of limitations. I see myself as a creative and hardworking individual who highly values initiative and teamwork. I want to bring something to the table whether it be for Film, TV or any form of Visual media.
